PRESS RELEASE

The Same Time Next Year
By Bernard Slade
7.45 pm, 1 October 2009

Theatre Rue present The Same Time Next Year at Aberystwyth Arts Centre on Thursday 1st October, 7.45pm.

For one weekend they laughed, cried, lusted and loved - the same time every year. This heart-warming romantic comedy by Bernard Slade traces the unique 25- year relationship between two people - who happen to be married to other people.

New Jersey accountant George and housewife Doris meet in February 1951. They have an affair, and agree to meet once a year, despite the fact both are married to others and have six children between them.

Over the course of the next quarter of a century George and Doris develop an emotional intimacy far deeper than what one would expect to find between two people meeting for a clandestine relationship just once a year. During the time they spend with each other, they discuss the births, deaths, and marital problems each is experiencing at home, and the social changes affecting their lives.

Tickets for this performance are £6 (£4) and can be booked by contacting the Arts Centre ticket office on 01970 62 32 32 or online at www.aber.ac.uk/artscentre
